

Scenario:

You are a factory worker who works at a sheet metal factory. Due to the fast-paced and tiring work that you do at this factory, you find it hard to work on getting away from your smoking habit. You need a way to keep yourself motivated by using something that can track how many days that you have not smoked.

Task 1: Identify what each of the three screens show in the app.

Task 2: Try to access the settings screen.

Task 3: Access a chart that tracks how your respiratory health has improved over time.

Notes:

What are some changes you should make to your application?

- Make the settings icon in the app more visible.
- Make it clear what each screen in the app does at first when the user has just begun using the app.

What you need to keep for your application

- Keep the three-screen design, this design was very concise for the problem at hand.
- The main screen that the user sees by default shows how many days a person hasn't smoked when the user first opens the app.
